DISMISSED WITH A WARNING.

A man who conducts a saloon in the southwestern section of the city was brought before the Police Court this morning on the complaint of a woman whose husband has of late caused her considerable anxiety by his convivial tastes. The complainant had gone to the place of business of the defendant and warned him of the consequences of selling liquor to her husband. The prosecutrix in her testimony said the saloonkeeper had in her presence sold liquor to her husband, and while the latter was under the influence of stimulants. Justice Caton had a copy of the Byrd law before him, and in summing up the case told the accused he could be fined from $50 to $100 and compelled to enter into a bond of $500, but that he did not think it necessary to impose such penalties in this case, and would dismiss him with an admonition. The justice warned the defendant of the consequences of selling liquor to the woman's husband in future, and to any person who might furnish him with the same. The saloonkeeper assured the complainant that her husband would get no more stimulants from him.

ANOTHER INQUEST.

As was stated in the Gazette, the body of Charles E. Hardy, the third of the three colored men drowned near Fort Foote Monday night, was found yesterday morning by Frank Tyler in the grass on the Virginia side of the river opposite Fort Foote. It was subsequently brought to this city.

A coroner's jury, summoned by Dr. S. B. Moore, held an inquest last night over the body of Mr. Hardy. The only witnesses who testified were Robert Grady and Frank Jackson, the only survivors of the accident. Their testimony was the same as given at the two previous inquests.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect that Hardy came to his death by drowning, due to negligence on the part of Ernest Grady.

The jury was composed of Messrs. Harry D. Kirk, foreman; J. H. Fisher, Raymond Hufsch, O. M. Lennon, F. M. Martin and W. S. Nicklin.

MR. JOHNSON'S ENDORSEMENT.

As stated yesterday Mr. Conrad Johnson, son of Mr. J. M. Johnson was elected by the City School Board on Thursday night principal of Lee School. Mr. Johnson was last year principal of a large school in Accomac county and at the close of the session received the following endorsement from the superintendent of schools of that county: I desire to state that I consider Mr. Conrad Johnson a fine teacher, a splendid school manager. He is especially strong in the management of young men. He had a high school that was hard to discipline, and under my supervision he made it in one session the best school at that point that I have had there in the past 8 years. I commend him "in toto" as a strong school man.

Very respectfully submitted,
G. G. JAYNES,
Superintendent schools of Accomac.
Accomac, Va., Aug. 6, 1909.

ACTION ENDORSED.

The Citizens' Association of Jefferson District, Alexandria county, at a meeting last night at the Del Ray school-house, passed a resolution indorsing the action of the board of supervisors of that county recommending an appropriation of $5,000 for the improvement of the upper end of King street. At a meeting held on Friday night last the action of the supervisors was at first opposed in this matter.

A resolution was passed indorsing the proposed permanent highway between Alexandria and Washington.

An address on the subject of good roads was made by Mr. J. Y. Williams, vice president of the Good Roads Association, of Alexandria.

Representatives of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce were present at the meeting.

PASSING OF AN OLD LAND-MARK.

The old brick house on the northeast corner of Wolfe and Henry streets, opposite the roundhouse of the Southern Railway, is gradually being demolished by boys. The house for many years has been several feet below Henry street caused by the grading at that point, and some time ago it was partially destroyed by fire. In the olden time a pottery was carried on in this building by a Mr. Black, who was the father-in-law of the late S. King Sharp. Nearly all the woodwork has been destroyed or removed from the house.

SPECIAL TERM.

Judge J. B. T. Thornton has ordered a special term of the Circuit Court for this county for Monday, August 23, at which time a motion will be made to confirm the sale of the Max Lamsburg property at Potomac City to Wallace Bros., of Fredericksburg. As Judge Thornton had been counsel in the suit, it is expected that the governor will designate Judge Barley to hold the term, Manassas Journal.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]
The following cases were disposed of this morning:

A young white man, charged with assault, was fined $250.

GOOD ROADS MASS MEETING.

All the arrangements for the good roads mass meeting to be held at the Young People's Building on Thursday night next at 8 o'clock have been made, and a large turnout is expected. Addresses will be made by the following speakers: U. S. Senator Flint, Congressman Carlin, Commonwealths Attorney Mackey, of Alexandria county; State Senator Lassiter, President Tufts of the National Good Roads Association, Mr. E. Pennybacker, U. S. Good Roads Department, and Mr. St. J. Wilson, State highway commissioner and others. This meeting is for Alexandrians and residents of adjacent counties, and is the beginning of a movement leading to good roads in northern Virginia. A band will be in attendance and an excellent musical programme will be rendered on the occasion.

SENT TO THE GRAND JURY.

Harry Sims and Charles Williams were brought before the Police Court this morning on the charge of grossly immoral conduct. Sims and Williams, it will be remembered, were arraigned yesterday with several other men on suspicion of entering and robbing the section of P. W. Harvey, in the northern section of the city, about two weeks ago. They were dismissed in the absence of positive evidence against them, but Sims and Williams were rearrested on a more serious charge. Chief Goods and Officer Garvey were the witnesses against the accused. Justice Caton sent the two men on to the grand jury.

"Dreams that don't come true," is the title of a little book just published. Its about a man who dreams about what he wants and never gets it. He had a "pipe" the other night that he was out on a lark with a couple of blonde fairies, when he suddenly awoke, and found his wife had not home. Poor little jealous old fool. He got all riled up, and found out later that she'd only come to the Auto Stand for those irresistibly delicious Auto Products Sylvan Blushes, The Auto Stand, City Market.
